BEFORE YOU ORDER AN RV-12, PLEASE READ THIS!

Philosophy

The RV-12 Kit was designed to be licensed as an Experimental Light Sport aircraft (E-LSA). While it is also eligible for licensing in other categories such as Experimental Amateur-Built (E-AB) or under other rules in countries outside the jurisdiction of the FAA, we strongly emphasize that the RV-12 is the product of careful design and extensive testing. From the spinner to the rudder it is a fully integrated system. We do not believe it is in the best interests of an RV-12 builder to delete, substitute or modify any component in the kit.

Bottom line: Build it exactly as it is designed and supplied...we know you will love it.

Licensing Requirements (E-LSA)

If a builder intends to license their RV12 as an E-LSA, they will be required to supply a completed Form 8130-15 (Light Sport Aircraft Statement of Compliance) to the FAA at the time of licensing. The completed Form 8130-15 is supplied to the builder by the manufacturer (Van's Aircraft, Inc.) only after the builder has purchased all of the RV-12 sub-kits in their complete form. Van's Aircraft, Inc. is unable to issue the Form 8130-15 Statement of Compliance unless every component of the kit (including powerplant and propeller) has been purchased through Van's Aircraft.

THANK YOU FOR YOUR INTEREST. WE HOPE YOU ENJOY YOUR RV-12!
